

Global Law and Sustainable Development series

Series Editor: Paolo Davide Farah West Virginia University, USA and gLAWcal - Global Law Initiatives for Sustainable Development, UK

This series provides a new focus on the relationship between international law, economy and trade, with special attention to what are commonly referred to as non-trade-related values and concerns. Through research and policy analysis the series sheds new light on a range of issues relating to good governance and human rights in the widest sense. It is held that the values supporting these issues are directly affected by the global expansion of world trade and need to be upheld in order to balance the excesses of globalization. Multidisciplinary in approach, the series integrates studies from scholars and researchers with a range of different backgrounds and interdisciplinary expertise from law, economics, political science, and sociology through to history, philosophy and natural science.

The series editor welcomes new proposals for this series. To submit a book proposal to the series, please email Paolo Farah: research@glawcal.org.uk or pdfarah@mail.wvu.edu
