

CONFERENCE ORGANISED BY THE CENTRE FOR HEALTH LAW, SCIENCE AND POLICY, UNIVERSITY OF BIRMINGHAM

“UK HEALTH LAW: WHERE NOW AFTER BREXIT?”

Date: Thursday 4TH May 2017, 10am – 5.30pm

Venue: Birmingham Law School, University of Birmingham.

As policy makers and lawyers grapple with the aftermath of the EU Referendum this is the first conference to explore the implications and challenges of Brexit for UK Health Law. Papers will include “Brexit: an opportunity to rationalise bioethics governance in the U.K.?”; “The Futures of EU Health Law in the UK after Brexit.”: “‘It’s really about people.’ Recasting an “EU patient” as a “UK patient” - the meaning(s) of Brexit.”; “Clinical Trials Regulation: Cushioning the Landing of the Leap in the Dark.”; “Continued Influence of EU Law Post-Brexit: The Exportation and Circulation of EU Norms and Standards and the Case of Clinical Trials.”: “Brexit: some implications for reproductive choice.”; “Bogeyman or Reality? New obstacles to Irish women's access to abortion post-Brexit.”; “Nationalism, Supranationalism, and the “Public” in Public Health Law post-Brexit” and Privacy and Data protection in Health and Social Care: Post Brexit.

Confirmed Speakers are:

Professor Emma Cave, Durham Law School
Professor John Coggon, Bristol Law School
Dr Mairead Enright, Birmingham Law School
Professor Graeme Laurie, University of Edinburgh
Dr Samantha Halliday, Leeds Law School
Professor Tamara Hervey, Sheffield Law Schools
Dr Mark Flear, Queens University Belfast Law School
Professor Jean McHale, Birmingham Law School
Professor Jonathan Montgomery, Faculty of Laws UCL
Professor Chris Newdick, School of Law, University of Reading
Professor Keith Syrett, Cardiff Law School
Dr Mark Taylor, Sheffield Law School

TO REGISTER-

Please register online at

<http://shop.bham.ac.uk/conferences-and-events/college-of-arts-law/law-school/health-law-and-the-uk-where-now-after-brexit>

Registration costs £40 full admission rate.
PG students and concessions- £15.

ANY QUERIES

Please email Jean McHale at j.v.mchale@bham.ac.uk

Follow the Centre for Health Law Science and Policy @CHLSPBIRMINGHAM.

